

News and Notes

February 27, 2020

 The Words of the Day for this week were: warning (message that alerts), exchange (give and get something), contagious (spread to another person), and artificial (not real). Students will have a quiz over these words tomorrow. Students can review words on Studystack which is on my website under Words of the Day. Next week students will have quizzes over all the words we have learned so far. A study sheet is coming home today.

 Tonight is Family Read Night from 6 - 7:30. The Book Fair will be open. There is also a bulletin board contest, cookie sale, reading, photo booth, crafts, games, and face painting.

 Students will take their final MAP tests for reading and math next Wednesday and Thursday. We begin the testing at 9am so early attendance is importance. Please encourage your child to do his/her best.

 The Book-It goal for February is 12 nights.

 Please encourage your child to continue to work on the BINGO sheet. It is due Mar. 20.

 Students still need to work in the areas of Math, Language, Foundation Reading, Reading Skills Literature, Reading Skills Informational, Phonics and Spelling Rules and Test Prep for our Moby February Fun contest which runs through Feb. 29. Congratulations to Linkin, Will, Wyatt, Mason, Toby, Eli, and Reina for already earning the 300 point goal.

 Please go over the Fundation packet that is sent home at the beginning of each unit. Many students need extra practice spelling the current words and trick words. We are working with words that have ai and ay.

 Please return your child's reading log tomorrow so we can tally the total number of book pages that were read at home. The blue bingo reading sheet is due Monday. Try to complete all the activities on the sheet for a prize.

 Check the back of this newsletter for important dates!
